On August 20, 2026, OSI reported its fourth quarter 2026 and full-year 2026 financial results, revealing fourth quarter revenue that fell short of analysts' expectations by 8.5%, with sales falling 4.1% year-on-year to $484.1 million. The Company attributed the revenue shortfall to Security division delivery disruptions caused by conflicts in the Middle East, stating, "these results were affected by the timing of approximately $50 million of planned Security deliveries that moved beyond our June 30th fiscal year-end because of conflict-related delays and site access constraints in the Middle East." On this news, OSI's stock price fell $11.36, or 5.21%, to close at $206.73 per share on August 21, 2026.
